

*Part 2
Barry's
Nonsense
Anthology*

by Barry Zeeberg

Barry's Nonsense Anthology

Barry R. Zeeberg

barryz2013@gmail.com

Copyright © 2018 by Barry R. Zeeberg

Privately Published 2018

All rights reserved.

You may view my book online from my web site, you may download my book from my website and store the electronic version for your own use, and you may print a single hardcopy for your own use.

You may not edit or alter my book, you may not share the electronic or hardcopy versions with anyone else, either for free or a charge.

ISBN-13: 978-0-9657219-2-9

*There was a young bowler from Akron
His outfit was made of Dacron
He always did miss
His seven ten splits
So he took up knitting instead*

*There was an urban apartment dweller
The myth is he was quite a feller
He leased the whole roof
But to tell you the truth
He spent most of his time in the cellar*

*There was a young writer with a block
All he could do was talk
Not one word from his pen
Was forthcoming again
And Chapter One was a half-finished flop*

*There was a young girl from Rome
It was past curfew when she finally got home
She said she was late
Because she kissed her date
And she was never allowed out again*

*There was a young lady from China
Who was a famous interior designer
She hung a picture with care
Brushed off a stray hair
Was satisfied and exclaimed "There, there!"*

*An optimist had a pessimist daughter
She was thirsty so he brought her some water
The glass was half full
But she wouldn't drink it until
The half that was empty was filled*

*There was a judge who loved to play tennis
He arrived at the court
But his serve was too short
It hit the defendant, two lawyers, and the clerk*

*There was a judge in the court
But his sentence was way too short
The prosecutor demanded more
The judge stopped at the door
And spent the next hour and a half pronouncing a real long run-on sentence that kept on going until it was time to recess and everyone fell asleep*

*There was a young aardvark named
Sam
He went to a reunion of his clan
Meeting his cousins was a big thrill
And for dessert he swallowed his aunts on the hill*

*An elephant moves a short length
And uses so much energy and strength
You can have some cruel fun
Throw him peanuts one by one
And watch the poor fellow starve to death*

The beautiful illuminated manuscript was taken from https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Illuminated_manuscript and depicts The marriage of Girart to Bertha from the Roman de Girart de Roussillon, c. 1450